SMALL THINGS.

BY CHARLES MACKAY.

A traveler on a dusty road
Strewed acorns on the lea,
And one took root and sprouted up,
And grew into a tree.
Love sought its shade at evening time,
To breathe its early vows,
And age was pleased, in heats of noon,
To bask beneath its boughs.
The dormouse lyrid its dangling twig,
The birds sweet music bore;
It stood, a glory in its place—
A blessing evermore.

A little spring had lost its way
Amid the grass and fern—
A passing stranger scooped a well.
Where weary men might turn;
He walled it in, and hung with care
A ladle at the brink—
He thought not of the deed he did,
But judged that toil might drink.
He passed again; and lo! the well,
By summers never dried,
Had cooled ten thousand parching tongues,
And saved a life beside!

A dreamer dropped a random thought—
'Twas old, and yet 'was new—
A simple fancy of the brain,
But strong in being true;
It shone upon a genial mind,
And lo! its light became
A lamp of life, a beacon ray,
A monitory flame.
The thought was small—its issues great,
A watch-fire on a hill;
It sheds its radiance far adown,
And cheers the valley still.

A nameless man, amid a crowd
That thronged the daily mart,
Let fall a word of hope and love,
Unstudied, from the heart;
A whisper on the tumult thrown—
A transitory breath—
It raised a brother from the dust—
It saved a soul from death.
O germ! O fount! O word of love!
O thought! at random cast,
Ye were but little at the first,
But mighty at the last!

Select Miscellany.

THE OLD BUREAU.

As we were passing down Exchange Street, several years ago, we stopped in front of an auction room to examine the various articles that were exposed to be sold under the hammer. We had been there but a few minutes when we heard a female voice inquiring, "Is this bureau to be sold to-day?" On looking up we perceived that the question had been addressed to us by a young lady, whose sad but pleasant countenance struck us at once. We replied that all the articles spread on the sidewalk would be disposed of to-day to the highest bidder.

"I should like this bureau, if it goes low enough," she said, pointing to an old fashioned article that was standing among the other furniture; "but I never bought anything at auction in all my life, and I see no women here. I don't know as it would be proper for me to bid."

"It would be perfectly proper," we remarked; "but if you wish it, I will bid off the bureau."

"If you will, sir, I shall be greatly obliged to you."

"How high are you willing to go?"

"I don't know exactly how much it is worth, but if it sells for three or four dollars you may buy it."

"Shall I speak to a hand-cartman to leave it at your house?"

"No sir, I will call at noon and settle for it and take it away. I am very much obliged to you for your kindness."

So saying the lady went away, leaving us to wonder who she was, and of what use the old bureau could be to her. We examined it, took out the drawers, but saw nothing remarkable about it. At eleven o'clock, when the auction commenced, we were present, and after waiting nearly an hour, the auctioneer remarked:—"We will now sell this bureau. What will you give me, gentlemen?"—One man offered two dollars, another three, and we bid half a dollar more. Four dollars was bid—four and a half and five dollars. We were astonished that the old thing should bring such a price. What should we do—see it sold and disappoint the lady? The thought struck us that it might have belonged to some friend, and she wished to purchase it on that account, and rather than disappoint her, we resolved to bid again.—The bureau ran up to ten dollars and we purchased it for half a dollar more. Certainly we should not have given four dollars for it to use ourselves. However, we bought it, and had it sent to our room, telling the auctioneer that if a lady should call for it, to inform her where it might be found. We examined it again, and began to regret our purchase, feeling almost certain that the young woman would not thank us for what we had done; but we never mourn over a bad bargain.—Our philosophy will not permit us to do so.

A little after dusk, as we were sitting in our sanctum, the young lady came in, with an apology for intruding, and remarked, "You bought me the bureau, so the auctioneer informed me."

"Yes, I bought it at an extravagant price, I assure you."

"What did you give?"

"Ten dollars and a half."

"You astonish me. What can I do? I had no idea that it would bring over three or four dollars, and am not prepared to pay for it to-night."

"I suppose it was foolish in me to give so much for it, but I presume you want it very much."

"I did sir, and would not value paying double the amount for the bureau, if I were able, rather than not to have it."

"So I apprehend. Perhaps it belonged to a friend of yours?"

"Yes, sir, that bureau was once my mother's"—and I noticed a tear come in her eye, which she endeavored to conceal: "but she is dead now, and I want to keep it in remembrance of her."

Thinking the lady might be poor, we told her that she might take the bureau that night if she wished, and pay us when she found it convenient.

"I am greatly obliged to you for your kindness, but would rather you should keep it until it is paid for."

We urged her to take it, but she refused, saying: "I will see what I can do, and call in a day or two and see you:" and, bidding us good evening she left.

There is something very mysterious about this woman, thought we. It may be that she is poor, and perhaps in very destitute circumstances. But she showed an excellent heart, and the warmest attachment to a deceased mother. Her education must have been good, and she has evidently seen better days. And we thought the next time she called upon us, we would ascertain something more of her character and circumstances—perhaps her name—which we felt deeply anxious to learn.

In a day or two the young lady called upon us again, and with tears in her eyes remarked: "I do not know what you will think of me, but all the money I have in the world is five dollars; this I have brought to you towards the bureau you were so kind as to purchase for me."—So saying she placed the money before me in silver.

"I shall not take the money at present," I remarked, "I can do without it: and when you are able at some future time you may pay for it.

She expressed a great deal of gratitude and said, "I would rather you should take what I have," and nothing that we could say would induce her to take the money again.

"You appear to have seen some affliction," we remarked as we saw the tears in her eyes.

"Not much sir, I must confess that I have not always been as poor as I am at present; for I have seen better days.—When my parents were living I never knew what it was to want for anything. Now I cannot say so."

"How long have your parents been dead?"

"About six years since my father died; and it was four years ago last Saturday since my mother died."

At the mention of her mother's name, the tears came to her eyes—a tender chord was touched—we saw it and made no more inquiries, when she took her leave.

It was nearly six weeks before I saw the young lady again. She then called upon us with the remainder of the money that we had paid for the bureau.

We protested against receiving it at that time, thinking it might have been inconvenient for her to pay it. "I am under great obligations to you for your kindness. Had it not been for you I should not have the bureau the only relic of my mother; for it was then impossible for me to raise the money you so generously paid. I shall never forget your kindness."

"Do you wish to take the bureau away?"

"I have spoken to a cartman who will call here in a short time, and have it removed out of your way, for I suppose you will be glad of it."

"Not at all. I am pleased that I was instrumental of a little service to you, and if you ever need assistance I shall be ready to render it."

"I thank you, sir, with all my heart."

At this moment the man came for the bureau, and bidding us good morning the young lady left the room.

"Going, going—will you give but two dollars for this excellent bureau?" exclaimed Mr. Barley, the auctioneer a year or two since, as we were passing down exchange street. "Here Mr. C," he said, turning to us, "buy this bureau; it is worth more for kindling wood than it is going for. Just look at it—going—going—quick or you lose it."

Two dollars and fifty cents we bid as we saw it was the same bureau we had bought several years before for ten and a half dollars, and it was knocked off to us.

This is singular enough, thought we, as we had the article carried to our room. Where is the young woman who formerly owned it! Who was she?

We made several inquiries, but could not ascertain who she was or what had become of her. This bureau had been carried to the auction room by an individual whom Mr. Barley never saw before, and all our inquiries to ascertain what became of the young lady seemed fruitless.

Several months passed by, and still we heard nothing of the young lady, when one day, not knowing but we might get some clue of the former owner, we took out all the drawers separately and examined them. We saw no writing whatever. In the back of the under drawer we noticed that a small piece of pine had been inserted. It looked as if it had been to stop a defect. Prying it with a knife it came out, when to our astonishment we found several gold pieces to the value of about $50, besides a note for $2,500, with interest, made payable to Sarah ———, when she should become of age. It was a witnessed note, and had been running ten years, signed by a wealthy man whose reputation for honesty is not exceedingly good. Without mentioning to a single individual what we discovered we immediately endeavored to find out who Sarah ——— was, and where she could be found. We learned that a girl of this name formely lived with Capt. ———, and did the work of the kitchen Of him we could obtain but little information. His wife recollected the girl, and spoke of her in the highest terms. She believed she had married a mechanic and retired form the city, but his name she could not recollect. By repeated inquiries, we ascertained that Sarah with her husband lived on a small farm on the road that leads to Saco. Taking on early opportunity, we started for the residence of the young woman. After several inquiries on the road, we were directed to the house.

It was a pleasant situation, a little from the road, while everything looked neat about the dwelling. As we drew up to the cattage, who should come to the door but the very woman we had so long been anxious to find. She recognized us at once.

"Why, Mr. C———, how glad I am to see you. Where in the world did you come from? Walk in and take a seat."

Her husband was present—an intelligent looking man—to whom she presented us.

"I have often thought of you," she said, "and when in Portland have been tempted to call and see you; but although I have not called, be assured I have not forgotten your kindness, and I never shall forget it."

"But you seem happier than when I saw you last."

"Be assured, sir, I am. My husband has hired this little farm, where we have resided for the last two years and we have a comfortable living, and we are as happy as we could wish. In the course of a few years, if we have our health and prosper, we are in hopes to purchase the farm."

"What does the owner value it at?"

"He values it at about $1,500. We had to purchase a great many farming things, or we should have made a payment towards it."

"But what has become of your old bureau?"

"I fear I shall never see it again," she said; and after a pause, said—"I believe I have never told you how I have been situated."

"You never did!"

"When my mother died it was thought she left some property in the hands of an uncle of mine, that would come to me when I was of age; but he said it was not the case. With him I resided for a short time."

"Was your uncle's name Mr. ———?" said we, mentioning the individual who had signed the note in our possession.

"Yes sir—that was his name. He was unkind to me—made me work so hard and was so cross that I left him, to earn my living by doing the work of a kitchen girl. One day I learned that he was about to dispose of what little property mother left to pay an old debt of hers As soon as I found it correct, I immediately went to the auction, and found it too true. You know about the bureau, the only article of mother's propetry I could purchase—and had it not been for your kindness, it would have gone with the rest. The money I paid was earned in the kitchen. As I found it inconvenient to carry it with me I asked my aunt's permission to put it in her garret, which she granted. On calling for it when I was married I learned that uncle had disposed of it with some other things at auction. I would rather have lost a hundred dollars. Not that the piece possessed any real value, but it belonged to my dear beloved mother, (a tear came into the poor woman's eye,) and on that account I did not wish to part with it. But it was useless to speak to uncle about it: he was entirely indifferent to me and what concerned me."

"Suppose that I should tell you that I have that bureau in my office."

"Is it possible! You astonish me, Mr. C. Have you indeed the old bureau.

"I have and what is better, I have something here for you"—taking out of my pocket-book and placing the note and gold upon the table—"this is yours."

"Why, sir, you more and more astonish me."

"They are yours. After I became the owner of the bureau, I found this note and gold concealed in one of the drawers.—There are nearly fifty dollars, and the note is against your uncle, for nearly three thousand dollars, every cent of which you may recover.

This astonished lady could not speak for some time; but when she recovered from her surprise she could only express her gratitude in tears; nay, more she offered half the amount, but we merely told her that it pleased us to have justice done her and be instrumental in adding to the happiness of those we considered so worthy as herself and husband.

When we left we promised to call on her soon again, and in the meantime to make arrangements for to receive her just dues from her unworthy uncle.

The old man demurred a little at first; but when he found he could rob a poor orphan no longer, he paid the note with interest—begging us not to expose him.

Sarah's husband purchased the farm on which he resided, stocking it well, and is now an independent farmer. Two happier souls it is a difficulty to find than Sarah and her husband. May prosperity attend them to the close of life.

We often call at the house of our friend and spend there many a happy hour. It was but a week or two since we saw them as cheerful and contented as it is possible for mortals to be.

PRETTY INCIDENT.

We have heard of a very pretty little incident the other day, which we cannot help relating. A young lady from the North, it seems, was wooed and won, by a youthful physician, living in California. When the engagement was made, the doctor was rich, having been very successful at San Francisco. It had not existed six months, however, when by an unfortunate investment, he lost the entire heap. This event came upon him, it should be added, just as he was making ready to come and claim his bride. What does he do? Why, like an honorable, chivalrous young fellow that he is, he sits down and writes the lady every particular of the unhappy turn which had taken place in his fortunes, assuring her that if the effect produces any change in her feeling towards him, she is released from every promise she had made to him.—And what does the dear, good girl do? Why she takes a lump of pure gold, which her lover had sent her when in prosperity, as a keepsake, and having it manufactured into a ring, forwards it to him, with the following bible inscription, engraved in distinct characters on the outside:

"Entreat me not to leave thee, or to return from following after thee; for whither thou goest, I will go; and where thou lodgest, I will lodge; thy people shall be my people, and thy God my God; where thou diest will I die, and there will I be buried: the Lord do so to me and more also, if aught but death part thee and me."

The lover idolized his sweetheart more than ever when he received this precious evidence of her devotion to him, both in storm and in sunshine. We may add that fortune soon again smiled upon the young and ardent physician and that he subsequently returned to the North, to wed the sweet girl he loved, and who loved him with such an undying affection.—Nay, more, the happy bride and bridegroom passed through our city, not long since, on their way to the home of the latter in the golden State. Reader, this is all true. Young ladies who read the bible as closely as the heroine of our incident seems to have done, are pretty sure to make good sweethearts, and better wives.—Church's Bizarre.

☞ An old lady was telling her grandchildren about some trouble in Scotland, in the course of which the chief of her clan was beheaded. "It was one great thing of a head to be sure," said the old lady, "but it was a sad loss to him."

☞ Not long ago, a Methodist local preacher in one of the coal-mining towns of England was brilliantly discoursing to an audience of considerable size. He proceeded to wind up with a peroration of great force, and in his fervor raised himself even above his natural height, which was not diminutive. The front of the pulpit was not high, and the preacher over-balanced himself; down he went head foremost, into the singing pew, fairly turning a somerset, and landing upon a music stand in a sitting position, with such force as to shiver the wood work in a terrible manner. The female portion of the auditory screamed, and even the men were disconcerted; but the preacher rose to his feet, declaring that if he had fallen twice as far, the Lord would not have allowed him to be killed, and then went on with his sermon with no less fervor than before.

☞ Men and women have become extinct; they died sixty years ago, and left no heir! "Ladies" and "gentlemen" have usurped their places.

Deferred Articles.

The Catholic Church and Slavery.

We published recently an article from the Catholic Telegraph of Cincinnati, the most influential organ of that Church in the West, and probably in the country, in which hostility to slavery was emphatically avowed and satisfaction expressed that its destruction must result from the war now in progress. In the last issue of the Telegraph, the editor, speaking of the course he had thus deliberately determined to pursue, says he had expected to "wound the prejudices of many to whom he was bound by ties of friendship, and had anticipated a considerable decline of subscription list; but, to his surprise, he has found his subscribers increasing, and from all parts of the country commendations of his course are pouring in. Among other letters approving his course, the editor publishes the following from the state of Kentucky:

"God bless you for what you have written about slavery! Where it exists the poor white laborer is as little thought of as a dog. That is hostile to the Church is everywhere evident.—Well did the great Bishop of Charleston, Dr. England, say of the South, when after years of labor, he accomplished so little, "it is stubborn soil." That the Church has been ever the friend of the slave system is a monstrous assertion.—Europe was full of slaves when christianity was proclaimed—there is not one now. Who supprised the system? Go on with the good work. Many will denounce you—but far more will thank you."

The Telegraph, also publishes an extract of a letter from a distinguished officer of the army of the Cumberland, with the remark that "he has never been an abolitionist, but has, like ourselves, stood up for the democracy." This officer says, writing from Murfreesboro:

* * * "I am happy to see the splendid stand you took in the Telegraph against slavery, with its horrors, barbarities and base immoralities.—Slavery is dead. Nothing can resuscitate it. To learn this fact fully you should pay us a visit.—There is not a negro in the South that does not know he is free. Around here they have squatted on plantations, and refuse to work for anybody but themselves. They have sown little corps of their own, and the masters have ceased to exercise any control over them.

"As an indication, I will cite a strong case. The lady of the house where I am staying attempted to punish one of her negro women this morning. I had to step in to save mistress from being badly used up, as the darkey was belaboring her with the stick intended for her own punishment. "Ex uno disce omnes." It is needless for me to say that I applaud every sentiment you have expressed in the Telegraph. Your course is that of the prudent navigator, who, watching the black speck in the horizon, sees it expand into a portentous storm, and calls up his crew to take in sail and prepare for a contest with the elements. The storm will pass away, and you will be found sailing under full sail, while those who took not heed will be scattered by the gale.

"I am heart and hand with you in this cause. Slavery is doomed and those who would uphold it will be held up, in a very short time, to public odium and execration. No statesman will vindicate it: no friend of human progress will stretch forth a hand to break its fall; no lover of humanity and religion will grieve for its overthrow. I have lived long enough in the South to see its workings, its disgusting features, defiling the higher principles if our nature, warring with religion, and patronizing vice and immorality.—Almighty God has certainly ordained its destruction in this country, where it has been more offensive and immoral than in any other, and until it is utterly extinct this war cannot, from the nature of things, cease. I am in favor of a cessations of hostilities at as early a day as possible; therefore, I am in favor of the President's proclamation. This state was made for white people free labor, and when slavery no longer blights its borders we may expect to see the church and the school-house take the place of the slave-pen and market."

MORMON HOSPITALITY TO THE GOVERNMENT.—An army officer, who has just arrived in Chicago from Salt Lake City, gives the Tribune some interesting intelligence as to matters in and around Salt Lake. He believes that the great mass of the Mormons are disloyal, having no sympathy with the federal government, but are generally ready to aid its enemies, directly or remotely, even though those enemies be the most barbarous tribes of Indians. The Tribune's informant was in the famous Bear River fight, with Gen. Conner, which occurred on the 29th of January, and also in the later engagement at Spanish Fork, under Colonel Evans, of the 2d California cavalry. In each of those battles it became evident to our troops engaged that their savage foes had received valuable assistance, in several ways, from the Mormons at Salt Lake. There is little doubt that a short time previous to the last named fight, the Utah Indians (who had been committing depredations on the mails west of Salt Lake) had been notified by some of their Mormon friends that Colonel Evans was about to start on an expedition against them. The Mormons, however, are quite careful to give but very little expression to their treasonable sentiments, being restrained by a wholesome fear of federal bayonets and bullets. The officer estimates the entire number of Mormons capable of bearing arms in Utah at not over six thousand, although the territory has a population of at least eighty thousand souls.

The War on the Border.

We had barely room, last week, to announce that the invading rebel army, under General Lee, which threw the Eastern part of this State into great excitement, and threatened to capture and destroy our State Capitol, had been met at Gettysburg by the Army of the Potomac, under Gen. Meade, and after two days of the most terrific fighting known to modern warfare, had been completely vanquished and was retreating back to Maryland, by the route it came, endeavoring, if possible, to escape utter annihilation.

Since the battles of July 2d and 3d, there has been no regular engagement, although skirmishing has been going on all the time, and General Pleasanton's cavalry have been capturing wagon and ambulance trains, and picking up detachments of rebels in all parts of the country in the vicinity of the battle-field.

In the engagements and skirmishes we have taken about 10,000 prisoners, and the loss of the rebels in killed and wounded has been about 15,000, making a loss to them, of about 25,000 men. Some accounts place the figures higher, but we think the facts do not warrant it.

The loss to the Union army has been between 10,000 and 15,000. The official returns alone will give the exact number. The loss, in officers, has been very heavy on both sides.

At last accounts Gen. Lee was preparing for another battle, on the old Antietam battle-ground, previous to attempting to cross the Potomac. He has withdrawn all his forces from Pennsylvania with the intention of getting out of the scrape he has got into, but he finds it difficult to cross the Potomac, which is now much swollen by recent heavy rains. His line extends from Williamsport to Sheppardstown.

Gen. Meade is close after him, the pickets being together and the armies not ten miles apart.—All the militia from Harrisburg, Reading and all other points are being sent as reinforcements to Gen. Meade. Some 40,000 or 50,000 three and six months men have been sent up the Cumberland valley and are now doubtless doing their share in the way of exterminating the invaders.

It seems almost impossible that Lee should escape with his army, hemmed in as he is on all sides, nevertheless he is a wily commander and if there is any way of escape he will find it. Even should he escape, he will not take out with him more than one-half of the men with which he entered Pennsylvania. It will be his last raid to the North.

The line of the Union army extends from Harper's Ferry to Hancock, completely encircling Lee, with the main portion of the army just where they ought to be. It is reported that Heintzelman is on the opposite side of the river with a heavy force, ready to dispute the passage with the rebels whenever they attempt to cross. If we may rely on this, the rebel army is in Gen. Meade's power. Our cavalry South of the Potomac have been busy capturing wagon trains that were standing ahead of the army.

Gen. Dix is reported to have destroyed all railroad communication North of Richmond, thus preventing Lee's receiving reinforcements or supplies.

Ere we go to press we may have news of the second great battle, as it is the opinion of military men that it could not be delayed longer than to-day, (Monday.)

The last Accounts from the front represent Lee to be surrounded at or near Williamsport. The Sixth Corps occupies Hagerstown, and the Eleventh Funkstown; the enemy having retired from both. The remainder of our army is pushing Lee rapidly to the river. Gen. B. F. Kelley, from extreme Western Maryland, is reported as being on the Virginia side of the Potomac, to stop Lee in that direction.

Riot in New York.—A large mob collected at the conscription office, in New York city, on yesterday, to prevent the draft from being carried into effect. They drove away the conscription officers and burned the building.

At two o'clock the mob had assumed vast proportions. They had taken possession of the arsenal on Forty-fourth street and armed some 400 of their number. The policemen were roughly handled. The superintendent and fifteen policemen have been killed and many wounded. A squad of 30 soldiers were disarmed by the mob and driven off.

The regulars from Governor's Island have been ordered to the scene. The telegraph wires are cut in many places, destroying the connection.

Raid into Indiana.—About a week since, Morgan entered Indiana with a force of 6,000 or 8,000 cavalry and several pieces of artillery. He has been doing considerable damage to the railroads in the Southern part of the State. The Governor of Indiana has called out 50,000 men for State defence. A body of some 4500 cavalry is after Morgan.

On the 12th, the raiders had reached within a few miles of the Ohio State line, destroying several bridges on the Ohio and Mississippi Railroad. On approaching a station on the Indianapolis and Cincinnati Railroad, they were met by a regiment of militia and driven back.

Morgan may do considerable damage on the border, but if he is not captured, there will be bad management somewhere.

General Burnside has issued an order declaring martial law in Cincinnati, Covington and Newport. Business is suspended until further orders, and all citizens are required to organize in accordance with directions of State and municipal authorities. It is supposed that Morgan will endeavor to cross the river between Cincinnati and Maysville. The militia are concentrating at the former place.

Letter from South Carolina.

CAMP KEYSTONE ZOUAVES,
ST. HELENA ISLAND, S. C.,
June 20th, 1863.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—In consequence of having other duty to perform I was unable to get this epistle written on the 15th, as was my intention. But in this instance the old saying holds good, viz: "Better late than never."

In my letter of the 1st inst., I mentioned of having received orders to go to St. Helena Island, which order we have obeyed and here we are nicely encamped on the aforesaid Island. We find this to be quite a desirable place for an encampment. We are able to procure vegetables of all kinds, such as potatoes, cabbage, beans, beets, turnips, &c.; also, plums, peaches, pears and several other different kinds of fruit. Large quantities of fruit, vegetables, chickens, ducks, eggs, milk, &c., are daily brought into camp, by the darkies, who being greedy and anxious to make money off of "de Soger" ask extravagant prices for their goods; however they do not, at all times, get what they ask, but have to be content with prices nearer the real value of their wares.

I do not think it is necessary for me to give you a minute discription of this island, for if any one will take the trouble to examine a map of South Carolina they will see how it lies, how it is bounded, and all about it. There are some nice plantations and some splendid buildings. The steamer Delaware conveyed us from Botany Bay to this place, on the 7th inst. Another Sunday move. Nearly every move we make, we either embark or disembark on the Sabbath. How much better it would be if our commanding officers would arrange matters so that we could move other than on that day. The commandment, "Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy," is equally as binding in the army, as elsewhere. But says one, "We cannot expect to keep the Sabbath in the army." Cannot expect to? and why not? "O we must work on Sunday in the army." I admit there is duty to perform, in the military life, which cannot be postponed on the Sabbath, but there is also a great amount of duty performed on that day which, of necessity, need not be done. We are commanded to keep the Sabbath holy, and if we were not commanded to do so, common sense teaches us that we need the day for rest, and surely we soldiers need rest as well as others. If the leading officers of our army would only seriously reflect over this matter, and in the future dispense with every duty but such as really must be performed, I believe we would get along much better, at least we would have the satisfaction of knowing that we were complying with the law of Heaven. There is nothing gained by breaking the Sabbath, and whoever tries to cheat the Almighty, will find that he has cheated himself. I presume you have heard of the capture of the Rebel ram Atlanta. The "New South" of this morning, contains the following in reference to this important event:—

"We take great pleasure in announcing this week, the capture, in Warsau Sound, of the celebrated rebel ram, Atlanta, better known to many of our readers as the Fingal, concerning which the rebels have been a long time boasting, and about which, some of our people have had considerable fear.

"The Fingal, was an English steamer, and was cut down, iron-clad, and converted into a very formidable ram, by the rebels at Savannah, where two years were spent in making of her a terror to the Federal fleets. She was completed last winter, and has since shown herself many times in sight of Fort Pulaski, and elsewhere. Some of the men had a mania for desertion, and frequent arrivals to our side, with other sources of information, have kept us pretty well posted as to her movements. Rear Admiral Dupont has for a long time had his eye on her, and of late been well informed about her. Some ten or twelve days since, he despatched two of our Monitors, the Weehawken, Capt. John Rogers, and the Nahant, commander Downes, to Warsau Sound, to look out for her. They have been cruising about there since. On Wednesday morning, the 17th, while the Weehawken was some distance up the sound, a picket boat, which had been sent up farther, reported the Atlanta to be steaming down the Wilmington river. Capt. Rogers immediately proceeded down the river, to decoy the ram on, and to get into deeper water, so he could manœuver to advantage. The Atlanta came on as if she feared a prize were escaping her, and soon fired on the Weehawken. When she had got within easy range, Capt. Rogers himself sighted the Weehawken's fifteen-inch gun, the shot from which struck the top of the Atlanta's pilot-house, smashing the iron and wood work, and wounding both pilots severely with the splinters. Four or five other shots were fired, and four in all took effect. One fifteen-inch shot struck her about half way from her gunwale to the top of her iron-clad house, completely smashing through her iron and wood work, producing a large fagged hole, killing one man and wounding twelve.

The Atlanta fired six or eight shots, but none of them took effect. She finally ran aground and surrendered, with 165 prisoners on board, all told. The Nahant came up to participate in the fight, but through no fault of her own, did not arrive until the Atlanta had surrendered. The Atlanta was subsequently towed off where she had grounded. She steamed up here at the rate of six knots an hour with a heavy sea on, and was found to steer finely. The prisoners were brought up on the Island City, and were placed on the Vermont. All except the wounded ones are to be sent North on the James Adgar, which leaves this morning. The rebel officers are very much depressed.

We learn that the officers of the Atlanta came out with the intention of engaging and capturing the Weehawken. She was followed down by two wooden gun boats filled with ladies, and other excursionists, who were to witness the fight; it having been arranged that one of the gun-boats should tow the Weehawken up the Savannah; then the Atlanta was to go to Ossabau, capture a gun-boat, take some batteries, entrap the 47th, New York, and leave a force there to hold the batteries. Next she was going to Charleston to co-operate, by signal, with some rebel boats in annihilating the blockade fleet; after which she was to pay her respects to the Port Royal Squadron. This nice little programme was very summarily changed.

"The Fingal had two months provision on board, and amunition of the very best quality.—She was commanded by Capt. Webb, formerly of the U. S. Navy. She carried four Brooks guns, two six-inch and two seven-inch, and a bow gun weighing over 15,000 lbs."

Your correspondent had the privilege of a close view of the Atlanta on last evening. Being on board the General Hunter, coming up from Hilton Head, we ran along side of her. She is quite a formidable looking craft. In appearance she resembles a submerged house having the roof visible. She has a cutwater in the shape of an immense steel saw, with monster teeth; outside of that an iron frame, with a torpedo attached for damaging vessels; and above a boom-like piece, for penetrating anything against which she might run. She draws fifteen feet of water. She lies along side of the Wabash. Whilst gazing upon her I was thinking to myself of the many hours of extra fatigue duty we had to perform, a few months ago, mounting guns and building breast-works, and otherwise fortifying ourselves against the attack of the awful ram. She has paid her compliments to the Port Royal Squadron, but whether in a style to suit ye Chivalry, remains to be found out.

Col. Strawbridge, has returned from the North. He came on the Arago. He looks all the better for his trip. We were all anxiously expecting him, and when he came up from the dock, the whole regiment was formed in line and had it not been the Colonel's request to have no cheering, he would have received three deafening cheers, if not several more.

Brig. Gen. Strong reviewed our regiment yesterday. Everything passed off in excellent order.

The land force of this island consists of the 9th Maine, 3rd New Hampshire, and the "Lost Children," this last named regiment is a Zouave regiment, and is so called, I am told from the fact of there being several different dialects represented. To-day the 48th New York, landed and have encamped close by. The weather was very warm this forenoon but about noon we had a heavy shower of rain which has in a great measure cooled the atmosphere, and made it quite refreshing.

Maj. Gen. Hunter has been relieved, and ordered to report at Washington. He is succeeded by Brig. Gen. Q. A. Gilmore, known as the Hero of Sumerset, Kentucky.

The troops on this island are commanded by Gen. Strong, (Late Military Gov. of New Orleans.) We still manage to get our full amount of duty to perform. There are 150 men on fatigue duty at Hilton Head, every day, and the same at night. I mean 150 men out of the regiment. The night party work from dark until daylight.

In consequence of Col. Hall, Provost Marshal, taking active measures to have the draft enforced in and around Hilton Head, many of the Sutlers are selling out with the intention of going North. Out on such men! They would sell their country for five cents! (Postal currency!) Put their Patriotism in a thimble and it would have as much room as a flea, (small size) would have in the Atlantic Ocean!

For information of the "chap" who wrote to one of the boys in our company, desiring me to write a few more letters and then go to ——, I would say so far as writing letters is concerned, I will write as many as I please; but, after mature reflection, I have concluded not to go the place he directed me to; therefore, farther dictation on his part, not required.

The health of the regiment is very good, and all in good spirits, ready to fight, or to perform any other duty, they may be called on to do.

For the present, adiew,

Yours Respectfully, J. L. KINSEL,
Comp. F., K. Z.

The Surrender of Vicksburg.

CINCINNATI, July 9.—Special accounts of the surrender of Vicksburg do not differ materially from those of the Associated Press. When the flag of truce was sent on the 3d, says one account, all firing ceased, and thousands of men thronged the parapets to see with whom they had contended forty-two days, each concealed from the other.—Men of both sides gazed in wonderment. No arms were visible, only men, and the earthworks alive. In some cases where we thought there might be twenty, there seemed one hundred.—All looked like men who labored in mills or lime quarries. Slouched hats, shirts and pantaloons were their uniform. But little was said, though in some places the men were not more than ten or fifteen feet apart.

The bearers of dispatches to our Generals were fine looking men, of martial bearing and brave mien, clad in gay, close fitting uniforms and French caps, mounted on fine but thin horses.—They were escorted to the tent of Gen. Steven Burbridge, to remain until his return from the quarters of General Grant, five miles away. They conversed of old times more than of the present. Their names were General Bowen, of Port Gibson memory, and Col. Montgomery, of Virginia.

After taking a glass of wine, Gen. Bowen remarked that his bandage was uncomfortable, as it was very warm. Gen. Burbridge had them unloosened. After more than an hour's conversation their answer came, and they were again blindfolded and returned to their own works.—Still the men sat in silence. All wondered what it meant. The purport of it was this:

"GEN. GRANT: To prevent farther effusion of blood and loss of life, I propose that hostilities cease for —— hours, and that you appoint three Commissioners and I three to confer upon the conditions of the surrender, though I can hold out indefinitely.

[Signed.] "PEMBERTON."

Gen. Grant replied: "As to your first proposition, it is for you to avail it at any time; as to the second, I see no necessity for that, as there can be no conditions of surrender. We can all bear testimony to your endurance and bravery, and will treat you with all the respect due prisoners of war.

[Signed.] "U. S. GRANT."

After this came an interview between the commanders. It took place in a grove of fig and peach trees. The two who now met had been Lieutenants in the same regiment in Mexico, now met as foes, with all the world looking upon them, the one his country's glory the other his country's shame. When they had approached within a few feet there was a halt and silence. Col. Montgomery spoke: "Gen. Grant, Gen. Pemberton." They shook hands politely. It was evident that Pemberton was mortified. "I was at Monterey and Buena Vista, and we had terms and conditions there." Gen. Grant took him aside and they sat down on the grass and talked more than an hour.

Grant smoked all the time and Pemberton played with the grass and pulled leaves. Grant finally agreed to parole them, allowing the officers each his horse. The dread of going North and the fear of harsh treatment had deterred them from capitulating sooner. He proved this magnanimity and saved thousands upon thousands of dollars in the way of transportation and rations. They feared the Fourth of July. Our men would call out at night that the Fourth would finish them, and it was so arranged.

By this we have saved thousands of lives in both armies, and are gratified at the result. Our men treat them with the greatest kindness, giving them coffee, which some of them have not tasted for a year.

VICKSBURG, July 5.—Yesterday and to-day all passed off with remarkable quiet and good feeling. The weather is fearfully warm. Nineteen general officers have been paroled. Two or three days will be occupied before the prisoners are sent back to their destination. It is reported to be Talladega, Ala. Many of them are anxious not to be paroled, but wish to take the oath of allegiance and quit the rebel service and proceed north.

A number of rebel women and children were killed or injured during the seige. The hundred houses occupied by the sick and wounded have been constantly exposed to the shells. About two thousand persons have beed killed inside since the seige began.

The labor performed on fortifications on both sides is prodigious. The weight of our artillery knocked most of their works into undistinguishable heaps. About twelve hundred women and children were in the city during the bombardment who have for the best part of the time been obliged to live in the caves, of which there are several hundred. Citizens are not being allowed to draw from army supplies except in case of destitution.

The prices of food have been enormous—$5 per pound has been charged for flour, and $1 per pound for mule meat.

We have taken about 27,000 prisoners, besides 4,000 non-combatants, 102 field pieces, 30 siege guns, 50,000 stand of arms, ammunition, locomotives, cars, a few stores, and 57 stand of colors.

Among the prisoners are Lieutenant General Pemberton, Major Generals S. Stevenson, Smith, Forney and Bowen; fourteen brigadier generals, and 130 colonels. There are 5,600 men in the hospitals, half of whom are wounded. Only 150 of the garrison are reported fit for duty.

Latest advices from the interior say that Johnston is retreating rapidly, and that Gen. Sherman is in hot pursuit. Reinforcements are moving to Sherman.

An officer of assistance has been dispatched to Banks, and it is conjectured that the condition of the Port Hudson garrison is similar to that of Vicksburg.

In one week hence its fall may be announced at any hour. The general opinion here, both in the rebel army and our own, is that the rebellion in the West is at an end, or at least reduced to insignificant proportions.

Dr. SWEET'S
THE

FOR RHEUMATISM, GOUT, NEURALGIA LUMBAGO, STIFF NECK AND JOINTS, SPRAINS, BRUISES, CUTS AND WOUNDS, PILES, HEADACHE, AND ALL RHEUMATIC AND NERVOUS DISORDERS.

For all of which it is a speedy and certain remedy, and never fails. This Liniment is prepared from the recipe of Dr. Stephen Sweet, of Connecticut, the famous bone setter, and has been used in his practice for more than twenty years with the most astonishing success.

AS AN ALLEVIATOR OF PAIN, it is unrivalled by any preparation before the public, of which the most skeptical may be convinced by a single trial.

This Liniment will cure rapidly and radically, RHEUMATIC DISORDERS of every kind, and in thousands of cases where it has been used it has never been known to fail.

FOR NEURALGIA, it will afford immediate relief in every case, however distressing.

It will relieve the worst cases of HEADACHE in three minutes and is warranted to do it.

TOOTHACHE also will it cure instantly.

FOR NERVOUS DEBILITY AND GENERAL LASSITUDE arising from imprudence or excess, this Liniment is a most happy and unfailing remedy. Acting directly upon the nervous tissues, it strengthens and revivifies the system, and restores it to elasticity and vigor.

FOR PILES.—As an external remedy, we claim that it is the best known, and we challenge the world to produce an equal. Every victim of this distressing complaint should give it a trial, for it will not fail to afford immediate relief, and in majority of cases will effect a radical cure.

QUINSY AND SORE THROAT are sometimes extremely malignant and dangerous, but a timely application of this Liniment will never fail to cure.

SPRAINS are sometimes very obstinate, and enlargement of the joints is liable to occur if neglected. The worst case may be conquered by this Liniment in two or three days.

BRUISES, CUTS, WOUNDS, SORES, ULCERS, BURNS AND SCALDS, yield readily to the wonderful healing properties of DR. SWEET'S INFALLIBLE LINIMENT, when used according to directions. Also, CHILBLAINS, FROSTED FEET, AND INSECT BITES AND STINGS.

Up to the time we go to press we have not received the rolls of Capts. Gardner's and Traves' companies, but hope to have them by next week.

WOUNDED.—We hear that Major Jones, (of Tyrone) of the 110th regiment was wounded in the wrist, at Gettysburg. This makes the 3d time he has been wounded since his regiment entered the service. He was first wounded at Bull Run, then at Chancellorville, and now at Gettysburg. The 110th came in for a full share of the fight, as usual, but this time they were not accompanied by the 84th, the latter having been detatched to guard a wagon train.

Lieut. Franklin B. Stewart, of Company H, 110th regiment, was wounded in the shoulder at the same battle. He is now at the residence of his father, near Elizabeth Furnace, and we understand that the ball has not yet been extracted.

☞ We are sorry that there is a person in this place who would be guilty of so foully wronging a most excellent and well-behaved body of men, such as composed the regiment from Chester and Delaware counties, recently stationed here, as did the Altoona correspondent of the Johnstown Democrat. The sobriety and correct deportment of the men was the remark of all our citizens. We did not see or hear of anything like that of which the Democrat's correspondent complains. If some of the boys did appear proud of their uniforms, that did no one any harm, and they took no liberties with either citizens or property. During their stay they made friends wherever they went.

THE FOURTH.—Our last issue was so long delayed and so much crowded with important items that we could not refer to the Fourth in Altoona. There was nothing special to note, however, if we except a little skirmish on the corner of Main and Annie streets, in the afternoon, in which nature's weapons were handled with considerable dexterity, and several countenances damaged. For a time, this was considered but the opening of a general engagement, but we are glad to note that both parties rested on their arms and no further altercations occurred. A number of those engaged had a hearing before Esquire Humes, but we have not learned how their cases were disposed of.

COMPANY M, 62D REGIMENT.—This regiment suffered severely in the late fight at Gettysburg, and company M, now under command of Capt. Murray, suffered particularly. We hear it stated that there are now but eight men in the company fit for duty. Capt. Murray was wounded in the wrist and Lieut. Pat Morris, of this place, was wounded in the head, so severely that it was thought he could not recover. Others from this place and vicinity were wounded, but we have not received a full list.

☞ Dr. J. M. Gemmell requests us to say to all those desiring to make settlements of accounts during his absence in the army, that they will be attended to by calling at his residence, on Emma street.

REVIEW.—Amid the excitement, and extravagant reports of every character, which literally filled the air during the past three weeks, it was extremely difficult to obtain correct information on any subject, and newspaper reporters, doubtless, occupied the most perplexing situation of any.—They desired to give correct accounts of transpiring events, and bent their energies in that direction, taking as their guide the most probable versions of transactions, authenticated by "perfectly reliable gentlemen," but in more than one instance their productions had scarcely appeared in print ere they came in for a full share of censure. Whatever errors we may have made in our account of the late conflagration, as to the loss of property sustained by different individuals, they rest not with us, but with those who gave us our information; and, with but two exceptions, it was to the owners of the property injured that we applied for the information. In speaking of the loss sustained, we had reference to the situation of the parties, and their ability to recover from the effects, more than to their actual loss. To the man who is worth $10,000 and loses $5,000, the loss is not so great as to the one who is worth but $500 and loses $450,

In our report we failed, for want of information, to state that Theo. Peterson, who occupied a room in the Misses' Hickey's department of Mr. Hodnett's house, was, at the time, confined to his bed with inflammatory rheumatism. When the alarm was given, he managed to get out of bed and get down stairs, bringing a few small articles with him. How he got out he can scarcely tell, as his legs were so much swollen that he could hardly lift them, and when once out of the house he was unable to get away from the scene. He was carried to the residence of Dr. Gemmill. His wife and child had to escape from the room as quickly as possible, without much attention to dress, in order to have their goods removed ere the devouring element came upon them.

Lieut. Campbell's loss was about $700, in books, valuable papers, furniture, wearing apparel, &c.—The books and papers of the Steam Planing Mill, of which he had charge, were in his room and were burned.

ORGANIZATION OF THE 46TH REG'T P. V. M.—The organization of the first regiment formed at Huntingdon, to which are attached the companies of Capts. Huff, Campbell and Gardner, from this place, was effected on the 9th inst., by the election of the following field officers:

Colonel—John J. Lawrence, of Huntingdon.
Lieut. Col.—Capt. Huston, of Centre county.
Major—F. M. Bell, of Tyrone.
Adjutant—George W. Russel, of Altoona.

The selections for Colonel and Major did not meet the entire approbation of many of the men composing the regiment. As men, they are respected and esteemed by all who know them, in all things pertaining to civil life and social intercourse, but in military matters, so important to those in the ranks, their competitors were considered their superiors. Lieut. Col. Szink, of this place, who was the competitor of Col. Lawrence, for the Colonelcy, possessed the confidence of all the men in the regiment who knew him, and especially those who served under him in the 125th regiment, in the nine months service. When they enlisted they confidently expected that they would be led by him in this campaign, and went into it with a will; but things not having turned out according to their individual preferences, they will, nevertheless, do their whole duty and render to Col. Lawrence that obedience and respect due his rank, and should he lead them to action they will bring no discredit upon the regiment. We understand that M. T. Dill, of this place, has been appointed Quartermaster of the regiment.

CARD OF THANKS.—At a meeting of Captain James M. Bell's Cavalry Company, from this place, the following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, We have for several days enjoyed the hospiality of the citizens of Huntingdon, previous to going into camp; therefore

Resolved, That we hereby tender them our sincere thanks for their kindness, and that we are especially indebted to those ladies who cooked our rations and supplied us so generously from their own tables—particularly Mrs. Dr. H. K. Neff, Mrs. J. P. Anderson, Mrs. Dr. J. B. Luden, Mrs. Anna Massey, Mrs. G. A. Steel, Mrs. Amanda Blair, Mrs. Elizabeth Miller, Miss M. Hildebrand, Miss C. Weisling, Miss C. Miller and others—all of whom were untiring in their efforts to provide us with every comfort.

Resolved, That we tender our thanks to the Trustees of the Presbyterian Church, for the use of that building.

Resolved, That these resolutions be published in the Huntingdon Globe and Journal and Altoona Tribune

If all we hear be true, and we have no reason to doubt it, the Huntingdon ladies are making quite an impression on the Altoona boys in camp at that place, and "when this cruel war is over," if the boys be spared, they will doubtless visit that locality very often. Perhaps the attention of the ladies may be accounted for when we consider the number of good-looking well-behaved boys which Altoona has furnished. There may be impressions on both sides. Hey?

APPOINTED.—Dr. J. M. Gemmill, of this place, has been appointed surgeon of the first regiment of three month men organized at Huntingdon. We congratulate the Dr. and the boys from Altoona—the Dr. on his good luck in getting the appointment, and the boys on their good luck in getting a surgeon in whose skill they have every confidence and who will give them all the attention they may require. The name of Dr. Feay, of Williamsburg, is mentioned in connection with the appointment of assistant surgeon.

RELIEF FUND.—The Board of Managers of the fund for the relief of the families of those who have recently volunteered in the service of their country, desire that one-fifth of each person's subscription to that fund should be paid in immediately to Thomas L. Caldwell, at Lloyd & Co.'s Banking House. Mr. Caldwell has been appointed by the Board, Collector of the relief fund. We hope every subscriber will pay up promptly, that there may be no complaints on the part of soldiers' families.

ARM BROKEN.—A little son of C. J. Hackett, of this place, fell off a fence, a short time since, and fractured his right arm close to the shoulder. Dr. W. R. Findley was called in and reduced the fracture and the little unfortunate is now doing well.

NORMAL SCHOOL.—The undersigned proposes to organize, at Altoona, a class for Normal instruction, to commence on Monday, July 20th, 1863, and continue four weeks.

Those ladies and gentlemen who wish to review their common school studies and attain some proficiency in the drill and management necessary in our common schools in order to qualify themselves for teachers, here have an opportunity.

The county superintendent will be in attendance and assist in this desirable undertaking.

Prof. JOHN MILLER.

As there will most likely be a scarcity of teachers to take charge of common schools the coming winter, we hope that all ladies and gentlemen who consider themselves at all competent to take charge of the educational interest of the young, during the absence of so many teachers in the army, will avail themselves of the opportunity to properly qualify themselves for the position of teachers.

PLAGIARISM.—We notice in a recent issue of The People's Advocate, (published in Bloomfield, Perry Co., Pa.,) a piece of original (?) poetry, headed, "Song of Co. G, 1st Penn'a Reserve Cavalry," which, upon comparison, we find to be the production of James Gaily, a blind man, of this place. It was composed by Mr. Gaily and dedicated to "Companies C and F, 76th Penn'a Volunteers." Alterations are made in localities, letters of companies and names of officers, to suit the plagiarist. Although the poetry is none of the best, still it is highly creditable to Mr. Gaily, considering his situation, and he should have the credit. The person who altered it to suit the cavalry has now the satisfaction of knowing that he has been sporting on the productions of a blind man's brains.

GREEN GROCERY.—Our neighbor, Jacob T. Wilson, is branching out extensively in the green grocery business. He now receives daily, by Express, from Pittsburgh, an assortment of cabbage, potatoes, beans, peas, rhubarb, onions, cucumbers, tomatoes, and all green vegetables in the market. They are all fresh and sold as reasonable as early vegetables can be at this season. We think an extensive business should be done in this line in this place. Call at Wilson's, two doors below Lowther's store, for your vegetables.

DEATH OF AN OLD CITIZEN.—Mr. Daniel Cramer, father of the several gentlemen of that name engaged on the Penn'a R. R., and a soldier of the war of 1812, died at his residence, in Hollidaysburg, on the morning of the 1st inst., in the 72d year of his age. His remains were buried with military honors in the Lutheran Cemetery, near the above named place.

SUSPENDED AND REVIVED.—The Blairsville Record has been suspended, and its editor, J. Irvin Steel, has taken charge of the Huntingdon Monitor, which has been revived. We wish the Doc better treatment at the hands of the soldiers than was received by his predecessor. So long as he keeps step to the music of the Union there will be no danger, but he has determined boys to deal with if he straggles out of line.

The Wheeler & Wilson's Machines combine everything that can be required in the manufacture of garments. Our friends abroad may be assured that they will give entire satisfaction, and that to purchase one of them is a safe investment."—Observer.

R. A. O. Kerr, of this place, is agent for the sale of these machines in Blair and Huntingdon counties. See advertisement.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY.—We understand that John H. Keatley, Esq., of Hollidaysburg, intends being a candidate for District Attorney at the coming election. Mr. Keatley served nine months in the service, in the 125th Regiment P. V., and is now in the three months service. He posesses all the qualifications for the office and would undoubtedly make an acceptable officer. He has merited well at the hands of the people and deserves, in this instance, a slight token of their regard.

For the Tribune.

THE MARKET HOUSE.—The question is frequently asked—"How is the Hall and Market Company getting along, and when will the building be commenced?" So far as I know, the Company is right side up, but the building committee have not yet given an answer to the second interrogatory. I would repeat the question—"When will the building be offered for contract? or, if not to be built by contract, when will it be commenced?"

STOCKHOLDER.

LIBERALITY.—The Pennsylvania Rail Road Company has announced that it will pay $5 per week to every family of its employees whose head enlists in the State defence. This will give to the families some $21 or $22 per month from the Company, which amount added to the soldiers pay will make from $33 to $35 per month and will be amply sufficient for their support.

ANOTHER PRINTER WOUNDED.—Walter P. Byers, an apprentice in this office, who served in the three months campaign, in Capt. Lloyd's company, 3d regiment, and afterwards enlisted in Capt. Crozier's company, 62d regiment, was wounded in the leg in the late fight at Gettysburg. We learn that it is only a flesh wound, but have no further particulars.

POSTPONED.—The Union State Central Committee have postponed the time for holding the Union State Convention from July 1st to August 5th. This action was deemed necessary in consequence of many of the delegates to the convention being engaged in the military service of the State.

REFUSE THEM.—Our merchants and business men will secure themselves by refusing all $5 bills on the Chester Bank, Orange county, N. Y.—There are quite a number of exceedingly well executed counterfeits of this demonination in circulation in this place.

DIVIDEND DECLARED.—The Altoona Gas & Water Company have declared a dividend, payable at any time, at the office of the Treasurer.

MARRIED.

On the 12th inst., by Rev. Samuel A. Holman, Mr. ALMON MARIETTA to Miss SARAH ANN REIGH, all of Altoona, Pa.

DIED.

CASE OF DANIEL A. BOYD.

PITTSBURGH, December 31, 1861.

DR. G. H. KEYSER:—I take pleasure in making this voluntary statement in favor of a medicine prepared by you called "LINDSEY'S BLOOD SEARCHER." I had suffered for five years with Scrofula which broke out on my head and forehead so as to disfigure me very much, and took off the hair when the disease made its appearance; it also broke out on my arm above and below the elbow, and eat into the skin and flesh so as to expose a fearful sore. The disease on my head went so far that several small pieces of bone came out. I was very weak and low spirited, and had given up all hope of ever getting well, as I had tried several skillful physicians and they did me no good. In September last, 1861, I was induced to try "LINDSEY'S IMPROVED BLOOD SEARCHER." I must confess I had no faith in patent medicines, but after I had used three bottles of Blood Searcher, the ulcers on my head and arm began to heal. I have now taken eight or ten bottles, and my head and arm are entirely well except the scars remaining from the sores. I will also state that I had the rheumatism very bad in my arms and legs. The Blood Searcher also cured the rheumatism. I am now a well man, over forty years of age, and I feel as supple and young as I did when I was twenty, and have increased in weight twenty pounds. I would also state that the disease in my forehead was so bad that when I stooped and lifted anything heavy, the blood run out of the sore. Dr. Keyser had a photograph taken of me by Mr. Cargo, the artist, after I began to get well. It does not show my appearance as bad as it was before I commenced taking the medicine. You can see the photograph, one of which is now in my possession, and also at Dr. Keyser's 140 Wood street. I would also state that I took the Blood Searcher which was made before Dr. Keyser commenced making it. Although it helped me some, I did not recover fast until I got the kind made by Dr. Keyser himself. One bottle of his did me more good than two of the old. I believe it is a great deal stronger and better. I have recommended the Blood Searcher to a great many of my friends for various diseases, and I believe it has helped the whole of them. You may publish this if you wish, and I am anxious that all who are afflicted as I was may be cured. I live in this city, No. 4 Pine street, and am employed at Collville & Anderson's Union Marble Works, 54 Wayne street.

DANIEL A. BOYD.

A BLIND MAN CURED.

I live in Sligo, at Clinton Mill and have been nearly blind in both eyes for nearly four years. I called on Dr. Keyser about three months ago and asked him to give me directions to the Institution for the Blind in Philadelphia. He told me that I need not go to Philadelphia to get well as he had medicine that would cure me, as he said my disease was in the blood. I was treated for it two or three times in the hospital in this city, and was relieved, but my disease always returned after a month or two after I came out of the hospital. I found my disease was returning and I called, by the advice of a good friend of mine, on Dr. Keyser, who has restored my sight, and my eyes are nearly as well as ever. The Doctor gave me 'Lindsey's Blood Searcher" and a wash.

A BAD SORE LEG CURED.

PITTSBURGH, September 18, 1861.—I hereby certify that I have had a sore leg for over a year. It was covered with ulcers and sores so that I could not work for nearly a year. My leg swelled so that I was unable to do anything for a long time, for at least six months. I tried several of the best doctors in the city, but without any benefit; finally I called on Dr. Keyser, at No. 140 Wood street, who only attended me about two weeks, and gave me but two bottles of medicine, and I am now entirely well and have continued so for six months. I am employed at the Eagle Engine House on Fourth street, where any one can see me.

THOMAS FARRELL.

CANCER CURED.

A LETTER FROM ENGLAND.—Mr. John Pope, of Blaenavon, near Montypool, Monmouthshire, England, writes as follows:

SIR:—An old woman in this place has wished me to write you respecting LINDSEY'S BLOOD SEARCHER, from which she found great benefit, and wishes to have a little more. She has been suffering from a disease of a cancerous nature for the last six or seven years. Her daughter who is living in America, obtained it for her, and sent her eighteen bottles. She is now quite out of it, and I have written to her daughter twice and have received no answer; of course she is anxious to get more, to get completely cured. I told her I would write to you for the agency in this country, and she felt very much pleased to hear me say so. I now beg to ask you on what terms you will supply me; you will please bear in mind the carriage, and supply me as cheap as possible. The carriage on the one dozen bottles was £1 8s 6d. The medicine was a present from her daughter. I would like to have the Blood Searcher in a jar or small cask, if you can send it in that way, or in pint or quart bottles. I will send a bill through bank or registered letter, which ever will be most convenient to you, if you will send me carrier's receipt to the parcel as security. I would send you a stamp to answer this, but as it is uncertain of this reaching you, on account of the country being in six and seven, a term which is commonly used, you will be kind enough to charge me with the postage.

Yours, respectfully,
JOHN POPE.

THE Early Physical Degeneracy of AMERICAN PEOPLE.

JUST PUBLISHED BY DR. A. STONE

Physician to the Troy Lung and Hygienic Institute.

A Treatise on the Causes of Early Physical decline of American People; the cause of Nervous Debility, Consumption and Marasmus.

This work is one of high moral tone, written in chaste, yet thrilling language, and appeals directly to the moral consciousness of ALL PARENTS and Guardians especially, detailing scientific and reliable aids and treatment for cure.

It will be sent by mail on the receipt of two (3 cent) Stamps.

☞ Parents and Guardians! Fail not to send and obtain this book.

☞ Young men! Fail not to send and get this book.

☞ Ladies! You too should at once secure a copy of this book.

A Word of Solemn Conscientious Advice to those who will reflect.

A class of maladies prevail to a fearful extent in the community, dooming at least 100,000 youth of both sexes annually to an early grave. Those diseases are very imperfectly understood. Their external manifestation, or symptoms are Nervous Debility, Relaxation and Exhaustion; Marasmus or wasting and consumption of the tissues of the whole body; shortness of breathing or hurried breathing on ascending a hill or flight of stairs; great palpitation of the Heart; Asthma, Bronchitis and sore Throat; shaking of the Hands and limbs; aversion to society and to business or study; dimness of eye sight, loss of Memory, dizziness of the Head, Neuralgia, Pain in various parts of the body; Pains in the back or limbs, Lumbago, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, irregularity of the bowels deranged secretions of the Kidneys and other glands of the body, as Leucorrhoea or Fleur Albus, &c. Likewise Epilepsy, Hysteria and Nervous Spasms.

Now in ninety-nine cases out of every one hundred, all of the above named disorders, and a host of others not named, as Consumption of the Lungs and that most insidious and wily form of consumption of the Spinal Nerves, known as Tabes Dorsales, and Tabes mesenterica have their seat and origin in diseases of the Pelvic Viscera. Hence the want of success on the part of old school practice in treating symptoms only.

Dr. Andrew Stone, Physician to the Troy Lung and Hygienic Institution, is now engaged in treating this class of modern maladies with the most astonishing success. The treatment adopted by the Institution is new; it is based upon scientific principles, with new discovered remedies; without minerals or poisons. The facilities of cure are such that patients can be cured at their homes, in any part of the country, from accurate descriptions of their case, by letter; and have the medicines sent by Mail or express. Printed interrogatories will be forwarded on application.

☞ Patients applying for interrogatives or advice, must enclose return stamps, to meet attention.

☞ The attending Physician will be found at the Institution for consultation, from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m., each day. Sunday in the forenoon.
